Items of Interest and Personal Mention Caught Over the Wireless On the Streets of Anderson.

High Officer Has Arrived.

Among the arrivals in Anderson yesterday was Newman Laser, supreme secretary of the Fraternal Union of America. Mr. Laser will remain in Anderson until Friday, cooperating with local members of his order in several plans they have on foot and while here he will also inspect the local lodge. Yesterday he was receiving a warm welcome from his fraternal brothers.

Business Was Poor Yesterday.

Traveling men in the city yesterday walked loud and long last night in describing business conditions that existed in the city throughout the day. According to the "drummers" most of the Anderson merchants seemed to have a grouch because of the weather. Retail business was practically at a standstill throughout the day and little business was done by any firm. Last night things picked up a little when the Sunday School delegates began to appear on the scene and the city streets presented a livelier appearance than they had throughout the day.

Valentine Party At School.

Announcement has been made that the Mountain Springs school will have a Valentine box party next Friday night, the event being staged under the direction of the Rural School Improvement Association of that place. The proceeds of the affair are to go for the purchasing of supplies for the school and the excellent program, taken in connection with the worthy cause of the undertaking, will attract a large crowd.

Mutual Girl Here Tonight.

Always striving to secure the best there is, the Electric theatre will show in Anderson tonight their famous film, "The Mutual Girl." Patrons of this popular theatre will see the girl leave her humble country home to go to the city. They will see her arrive at New York, met at the train by her aunt's palatial automobile, and then they will accompany her on a great sight-seeing expedition over the city of New York. This is considered one of the best features ever introduced at a local house and doubtless the Electric will attract a large patronage tonight.

Miss Brown Is Quite Ill.

Miss Lily Brown, who has been teaching school in Chester, has been forced to give up her work there and returned to Anderson on account of her health. Miss Brown is suffering with appendicitis and it is thought that an operation will at once be necessary. She hopes to be able to return to Chester and resume her school work before the close of the scholastic year. Her many friends in Anderson will hope for her a speedy recovery.

Wedding of Interest In Oklahoma.

Anderson county people and more especially the people of the Roberts section of the county will be interested in learning of the marriage of Charles H. Little, formerly of this county, which took place in Oklahoma last week. Mr. Little was married to a lady formerly Miss Lou Reynolds, also of the Roberts section, but she had been widowed since she moved to Oklahoma. Both these people are well known in Anderson county and they will have the best wishes of a large number of friends.

New Bakery Now Open.

Formerly conducted as the Anderson Smeary Bakery, from today on this industry will be known as the Anderson Bakery and will be conducted by F. A. Foutchenberger, of Greenwood. Mr. Foutchenberger recently purchased the bakery and has thoroughly over-hauled and renovated it, installing some new machinery and putting the entire plant in first-class condition. In Greenwood this gentleman makes the famous "Old Homestead" bread and the same product will this afternoon be put on the local market. The new proprietor of the bakery says that his wares will be of such quality that they cannot fail to meet with the appreciation of Anderson people.

Thieves Entered Tailor Shop.

Some thief or thieves effected an entrance from the rear into the Columbia Tailoring Company's establishment last Friday night and stole two suits of clothes. The burglary was discovered by employees of the store when they came to work Saturday morning and the matter had been kept very quiet until yesterday in the hope that possibly the thief might be apprehended. However, those connected with the establishment said yesterday that they had been able to get no trace of the miscreants who perpetrated the theft.

Whole Family In the How.

The whole blooming family seemed to be trying to participate in a knock-down and drag-out affair at the Riverside Mill yesterday afternoon. D. F. Quales appeared at the office of Magistrate Broadwell about four o'clock and exhibited to the magistrate the result of a little argument he had had with D. L. Smith, his father-in-law and H. R. Smith, his brother-in-law. Quales had been struck three times with a pair of brass knuckles according to the statement he made to the magistrate and the condition of his face and head seemed to bear out this statement. He claimed that he knew of no reason why he should receive such rough treatment from his kinsmen but succeeded in obtaining two warrants, one on a charge of assault and battery and the other for assault and battery of a high and aggravated nature.

Farmers Failed To Hold Meeting.

Yesterday was the day for the regular meeting of the Anderson County Farmers Union, but on account of the fact that so few planters were in the city the meeting was not held. The inclement weather which prevailed was probably responsible for the absence of the representative men who make up the membership of this body.

Magistrate Broadwell, said that he had no cases at all docketed on his blotter yesterday, but that he had heard many complaints during the day and had issued six warrants, which will call for a number of hearings during today and tomorrow. Not a single case was tried yesterday in his court.

TEXTILE SCHOOL WILL BE SUCCESS

Secretary Burnett Says That Enrollment on First Night Will Pass 200 Mark

Speaking yesterday of the plans now being made for the opening of the free textile school in Anderson for the young men of the city who cannot attend such an institution during the day, F. M. Burnett said that all indications pointed to an enrollment of nearer 200 than 100 when the school is formally opened on the night of the 18th.

On Monday night Mr. Burnett visited Anderson Mill, where he was met by 41 young men who desire to enroll in the school. He also visited Brogan mill and there was met by 39 prospective students. Last night he visited Orr Mill, Riverside Mill and Toxaway Mill and was met in each instance by fully as many more students as he saw on the first night. This certainly indicates that the new school will have at least 200 pupils and possibly more when it is first opened.

The people of Anderson cannot over-estimate what this school can do for Anderson. It must prove of real benefit and the result of the textile school work will not be long in coming.

Mr. Burnett said last night in discussing the school:

"The instructors are graduates of our leading Textile Colleges. The textile department of Clemson College is interested in our school and will assist us in every possible way. Each lesson will be practical and to the point and the needs of the men, now at work will be especially emphasized. "The Y. M. C. A.'s business-a part of it-is to offer a man the chance of fitting himself to meet the demands of a better job. "The Y. M. C. A. has the courses and classes which after working hours, will fit any man for higher work. It will arrange a class for any group of a dozen men who want it. "Though a man may not have the schooling he needs, he can get it, if he will. The way is open for such men, and the cost is too small to mention.

"The Y. M. C. A. night school gives him a chance. When a man finds he has gone as far as he can without further education or more training and wants to increase his income he must get that extra training after work hours! Sixty thousand (60,000) men in North America are now doing this. Any man can do it if he means business.

Give your name to the superintendent of your mill; and tell him you want to attend. He will do the rest."

OLDEST ACTIVE LUTHERAN PASTOR

One of the most interesting men in Anderson for the Sunday School convention is Dr. S. T. Hallman, pastor of the Spartanburg Lutheran church. Dr. Hallman is the oldest active Lutheran minister in the State and has done much for the cause of Christianity in South Carolina.

He has also gained remarkable fame as a violin maker, having made a number of violins which have sold for several hundred dollars each.

During his stay in Anderson, Dr. Hallman is the guest of his daughter, the director of music of Anderson College.

SHOT FIRED INTO HOME

John Shaw Makes Complaint of Miscreant Firing Into House at Storeville

A message was telephoned into Anderson Monday night that some miscreant had fired a shot into the home of John Shaw at Storeville, presumably in an effort to kill some member of the family.

The deputy sheriffs, accompanied by one of the guards, at once left for the place, taking with them the county blood hounds, but upon their arrival at the place could find no trace of who had fired the shot. It is presumed that whoever it was had a horse hitched nearby and at once mounted the animal. The hounds could pick up no scent.

The bullet was fired through a window, missed Mr. and Mrs. Shaw and their child by a narrow margin, passed through into another room and finally out of the house, having penetrated two walls during its course.

Mr. Shaw is still prosecuting a vigorous search for the party that fired the shot and says that he has a clue as to who it was. It is expected that an arrest will shortly be made.

A recording meter to measure the amount of steam used in an industrial plant has been invented to check waste.
